30.	The Company has turned its attention towards Automated Legal Writing Software based on consultation with legal experts regarding the pain points of updating hundreds of legal documents with the same repetitive text. This focus was driven by the importance of accuracy in the legal world, all documents must be kept accurate and up to date, but with so many identical pieces of data referenced so many times, the 'Control F' current model of manual time-consuming replacement faces severe limitations the Company aim to address.
